3.1.4..Institution has created an eco-system for innovation and other initiatives for creation and transfer of knowledge that include

1. Participative efforts (brain storming, think tank etc.) to identify possible and needed innovations

- Regular pedagogical practices for both B.Ed. and M.Ed. courses include brainstorming meetings.
- Brainstorming and picture drafts for the NEP
- Research/Dissertation Subject SCERT
- Scanned versions of the articles
- At staff meetings, reports and articles on current developments and educational research are read.
- Staff members participate in monthly in-house seminars and interactive discussions on topics related to education.
- Throughout the course, an interdisciplinary approach is used.
- Courses spanning many subject areas provide opportunities for interdisciplinary thinking and information sharing.
- The EPC papers' reading and reflection, critical comprehension of ICT, drama and art, and knowledge of oneself sections provide opportunities for brainstorming and introspective sessions.
- Students demonstrate their abilities and creative products created over the course of study via their portfolios. The comprehensive image of the students' achievements and areas of skill is provided by the multifaceted information.
- A number of groups and committees urge students to actively participate in all events.
- The Students Quality Council authorizes a democratic administrative system that encourages student participation.
